

Rosenthal Fire Loss $250,000

Blaze of Unknown
Origin Destroys
Building and All
Contents of Store

Rosenthal's Department store, 116 South Ohio avenue, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin, and three business establishments adjacent on the south received considerable smoke and water damage, Sunday afternoon. The losses to Rosenthal's building and contents alone was established at more than $250,000.

The fire was discovered at 3:25 p. m. by Paul Hancock, three-year-old grandson of Mrs. Nettie Hancock, 110 1/2 West Second street. The child was playing in the two-room apartment, when he suddenly cried out to his grandmother, "Look," and pointed toward the window. Mrs. Hancock glanced out the window and she reported, "I saw a gush of smoke, heard glass cracking, and knew there was a fire. I turned to the telephone and turned in a fire alarm."

The Hancock apartment backs up to the rear of Rosenthal's with two windows facing an opening just behind the Thrifty Shop, 120 South Ohio avenue. It was from one of these windows that Mrs. Hancock saw the smoke.

Building Filled With Smoke

When the fire companies arrived on the scene, which was within two minutes after the alarm was turned in, the entire building was filled with smoke. Assistant fire chief ordered lines of hose laid, went to the front doors, unable to force them open, he smashed the glass. So dense was the smoke and flames could be seen crackling at the rear of the building, the firemen took up a position at the front showering water into the large store room. Other lines of hose were quickly laid and streams of water were soon pouring into the building. It was believed the fire might have started in the basement and worked itself up behind various partitions in the store, which made it more difficult for the firemen to battle the blaze.

No sooner would the fire in one portion of the building be extinguished, than flames jumped into another part of the store, cutting their way into the second floor, to the ceiling and through the roof.

Used Aerial Ladder

Fire Chief John Lueck ordered two lines of hose attached to the 65-foot aerial ladder and a stream of water was played along the south wall of the building, which separated Rosenthal's from the Allen Chasnovitz building, occupied by the Thrifty Dress Shop. In doing this the fire was confined to the Rosenthal building with another stream of water out of one window of the Hancock apartment. Another line of hose was pulled to the roof and fire fighters sprayed the flames from the north side of the roof.

A portion of the roof caved in shortly before 6:00 o'clock and about 10:00 o'clock the second floor of the building collapsed. The first floor was also burned out and the timbers fell into the basement. Thousands of gallons of water were used fighting the flames, and before the firemen could enter the basement, under the fallen timbers, it was necessary to use one of the fire truck pumps to pump water out to a level where firemen could wade about and extinguish flames.

Rosenthal's Department Store Destroyed

Smoke rises from the Rosenthal department store, 116 South Ohio avenue, in mid-afternoon, Sunday from fire which eventually destroyed the interior and did much damage to the building. Only the walls were left standing after fire had gutted the inside of the two-story brick building. Sedalia's new aerial ladder truck is seen in operation, water being thrown from the end of the ladder into a second story window. (Additional pictures on Page Four.)

Tell Story of Being Kidnaped

JOPLIN, Mo., April 4.—(AP)—Two teen-aged girls told a story last night of being kidnaped by two men in Tulsa, Okla., after having witnessed an act of violence in a taxicab strike there.

The girls, Kay Crabb, 18, and Phyllis Jean Bernard, 16, said they escaped from their captors last night at a tavern at Yonkersville, seven miles west of here.

Questioned by police they said they were abducted by the two men after they had rejected a $200 bribe to "forget that they had seen some taxicabs overturned." They told police they were beaten and threatened and taken on a wild ride which ended at Yonkersville, where they fled while their abductors were in the tavern. They ran into some woods and telephoned police from a farm house.

Fire in Manila

MANILA, April 4.—(AP)—Fire destroyed 40 buildings in nearby Meycauayan today.

Damage was estimated at $750,000.

About 400 of the town's 21,000 population were left homeless.

The fire started in an empty theater and destroyed a 300-year-old historic Catholic church.

O'Sullivan Robs Church in Lebanon; Asks Prison Term

Patrick O'Sullivan, who recently served a jail sentence in the Sedalia city jail for damaging candlesticks at the St. Patrick's Catholic church here, has been sent to the state penitentiary at Jefferson City from Laclede county for four years on a grand larceny charge. O'Sullivan admitted robbing the Methodist church at Lebanon, Mo., of silverware valued at $50.

O'Sullivan, who says his home is Boston, Mass., entered the Sedalia church and broke several candlesticks trying to get brass for junk. He served several days in the city jail.

'Dead Chicken' Gets Up And Walks Around

LOS ANGELES, April 4.—(AP)—A rooster which lost its head two days ago is still alive today.

A veterinarian says it should live as long as its windpipe and throat remain open. Dr. Alan Ross examined the phenomenon yesterday and found a small part of the rooster's brain, which controls respiration and circulation, was still left in the severed neck. Its movements, he explained, are controlled by its spinal cord.

The bird was purchased, with head missing, on Saturday by Mrs. Martha Green. She had a Sunday chicken dinner in mind. She placed it in the sink to pluck the feathers when the bird stood and began walking around. It made a strange noise. It wasn't a crow, but the normal sound a chicken would make with its head off. Mrs. Green is feeding her new found pet with milk and egg yolk by inserting an eyedropper in its throat.

Temperatures Are Slightly Below Normal

CHICAGO, April 4.—(AP)—Temperatures were slightly below normal, but the weather was fair over virtually the entire nation today.

The only rain areas were in eastern Colorado, southern Texas and at scattered points along the Atlantic coast. The rainfall was light.

The lowest readings early today were 30 degrees at Detroit, Chicago and Cincinnati. Kansas City had a low of 31 and Minneapolis, 32.

The forecast, however, was for rising temperatures throughout most of the middle west.

Olivia de Havilland Is Seriously Ill

HOLLYWOOD, April 4.—(AP)—Olivia de Havilland is seriously ill today, her studio disclosed, and every effort is being made by her doctor to save a baby she expects in August.

The academy award-winning actress has been confined to her bed for the past two months. Her physician said he doubted if she would be up again before the infant's arrival.

Miss de Havilland, wife of Novelist Marcus Goodrich, was reported greatly improved on Friday. However, her condition became serious over the week-end.

'Pea Soup' Fog

In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, April 4.—(AP)—A "pea soup" fog shrouded Kansas City during the early morning hours today, halting air transportation, and causing several minor traffic accidents.

The weather bureau at Municipal air terminal here recorded zero conditions on ceiling and visibility from 3 a. m. to 8 a. m. and fifteen air line flights were grounded or forced to by-pass Kansas City.

Ford Price Cut Focuses Eyes On Chrysler

Waiting to See
If That Company
Follows Other Two

DETROIT, April 4.—(AP)—The nation's automobile industry focused its attention today on Chrysler Corp. to see if the third member of the "Big Three" would follow the example set by General Motors and Ford and trim its prices.

Meanwhile, the Ford Motor Co. put into effect new reductions of $12 to $120 on its Ford, Mercury and Lincoln models.

That move, announced yesterday, carried out a company policy to "keep prices just as low as costs will allow," a statement said. It also brought Ford into line with GM, Kaiser-Frazer and Willys-Overland, all of which have put lower price tags on their cars during the last six weeks.

Prices Cut

Under the new price schedule, Ford cars will cost from $12 to $30 less than before, Mercurys will be down $80 to $120, and Lincoln and Lincoln Cosmopolitan models are reduced by $100.

In addition, the company cut the prices of certain truck models from $10 to $40.

Ford's reduction figures were well below the level of the Kaiser-Frazer Corp. cuts — by far the greatest in the industry's post-war annals.

On March 29, K-F said it was moving toward a "broader mass market," and slashed $198 to $333 from its models. Less than two weeks earlier, Willys-Overland had announced cuts ranging from $25 to $270.

The General Motors Corp. reductions came Feb. 25 and amounted to $10 to $40 on cars and $150 on some trucks. At that time Chrysler said it had no immediate plans for a similar step.

A Rosy Picture

Ford — which had put into effect the first postwar price cuts in January of 1947 and then wiped them out with three subsequent boosts — painted a rosy production picture in taking its latest move yesterday.

It pointed out that the action was made possible because of "added production through increased availability of materials and the small decrease in prices of some materials."

"There is still a current heavy demand for Ford and Mercury automobiles," the company statement added. "Firm production schedules have been set for the summer months of June, July and August at the highest monthly production rate since April, 1947. This should permit us to maintain our high employment level."

First Boost in August, 1947

The first of Ford's three price boosts in the past three years came in August, 1947, when the firm settled with the CIO United Auto Workers for a wage increase. The third of the increases — last July — also followed signing of a new UAW contract providing more pay. In between was a boost occasioned by Ford's introduction of 1949 models.

Since on two previous occasions Ford wage increases and price raises have gone hand in hand, there was some speculation in negotiations starting May 15 — is expected to ask Ford for more pay, $100-a-month pensions and medical care pensions. Any settlement with Ford probably will set the UAW's pattern for the entire car industry.

Elections in Many Missouri Cities Tuesday

Some Spirited
Races Expected to Attract Large Vote

JEFFERSON CITY, April 4.—(AP)—Some spirited races, few issues and more money for schools will mark Missouri's municipal and school elections tomorrow.

St. Louis will vote on mayor and other city officials strictly along Republican and Democrat party lines and in some of the smaller cities the candidates have been working up enough steam to attract a large turnout at the polls.

There is Aurora where Larry Brunk, former state treasurer and former mayor is seeking to unseat incumbent W. B. Wilderson. They have been trading hot words over the city's business just as they did four years ago when Wilderson, a Democrat, defeated Brunk for the post.

At Carrollton for the first time in several years both the Democrats and Republicans have tickets in the field.

Demands Clean Government

Lawrence Lutkewitte, former newspaperman, is demanding clean government in the mayoral race at Jefferson City. Republican nominee for the post, in the traditionally Democratic stronghold, Lutkewitte is opposing incumbent Robert E. Dorr, appointed to fill the vacancy when James T. Blair resigned to become lieutenant governor.

For the first time in years, bond issues are scarce, a contrast to the previous post-war elections. Jefferson City will ballot on a small one—$22,000 for fire fighting equipment. Salisbury will vote on a $10,000 park improvement bond issue.

Cameron will vote on a city manager form of the government. Columbia which last week adopted a new city charter with the city-manager plan, will vote later on city officials.

At least three cities will be larger in area if the voters approve.

Voting On Boundary Lines

Popular Bluff seeks to extend its city limits to take in some 300 families and straighten out certain boundary lines. The measure, if adopted, would add from 1,000 to 1,500 persons to the city's present estimated population of 17,000.

Pulten voters will receive ballots on two extension proposals. One would take in the new plant of the Harbison-Walker Refractories at the northwest edge of the city. The other proposal would take in a small residential tract to the southwest.

At Moberly an extension proposal would take in nine acres adjoining Rothwell Park.

In addition to the races for city officers, St. Louis voters will vote on 13 freeholders to consider a new city charter.

On the unusual side, John Pahlow, an office holder for 46 consecutive years, is after his seventh term as police judge at Lamar. The 85-year-old judge, a Democrat, isn't expected to have any trouble getting re-elected. The Republicans endorsed him too.

School Levies

For the most part school boards are seeking to retain present levies or increase them to meet higher costs and salaries. In contrast to this situation is Carthage where the voters will consider a cut of 30 cents on the $100 valuation. The city's rate now is $3.05.

The Macon school district is seeking a hike of 50 cents in its levy. Pilot Grove 30 cents and Fulton 25 cents. Moberly and New Franklin will vote on retention of their present $1.50 levies and Lexington will vote on retaining its $1.90 levy.

The Richmond school board election overshadows the city races. For the first time in the city, two women are seeking posts on the school board. Mrs. Ira Thornton and Mrs. J. P. Garrett are opposing two veteran board members, Dr. E. E. Gay and George Manley.

Voting Places In City Election

The city election will be held Tuesday, April 5, and the polls will be open in the morning at 6:00 a. m., closing at 7:00 p. m. throughout the 16 precinct areas.

Five members of the city council, a city attorney and two members of the Board of Education will be elected in this election. Following are the sixteen places to vote:

First ward, first precinct — Engine house No. 2; second precinct, Mark Twain school; third precinct, Lincoln school.

Second ward, first precinct — Engine house No. 1; second precinct, 201 North Washington avenue; third precinct, Jefferson school.

Third ward, first precinct — Washington school; second precinct, Whittier school; third precinct, 2118 East Broadway fourth precinct, Central Business College; fifth precinct, 1501 South Ingram avenue.

Fourth ward, first precinct — Broadway school, second precinct, 612 West Sixteenth street; third precinct, Archias Floral company; fourth precinct, Horace Mann school; fifth precinct, court house.

'Shield Against Aggression,' President Tells Diplomats

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—President Truman, rejecting Russia's charge that the Atlantic treaty is "aggressive," today hailed the historic pact as "a shield against aggression and the fear of aggression."

In a speech prepared for the signing ceremony, Mr. Truman asserted the people of the west are determined that "the sickening blow of unprovoked aggression" shall not fall upon the world again.

In taking steps to prevent aggression against "our own peoples," the president said, "we have no purpose of aggression against others. To suggest the contrary is to slander our institutions and defame our ideals and our aspirations."

Important Events In World News

TEHRAN, Iran, April 4.—(AP)—A reliable military informant said today a Russian regiment attacked an Iranian army post in northeastern Azerbaijan a few days ago and an "important battle" was fought.

Soviet troops, supported by tanks and armored cars crossed the border into the Iranian state of Azerbaijan near the Caspian sea on March 31, this informant said, and opened fire on an outpost at Gharli Boulaq. An Iranian battalion returned the fire and the ensuing fighting lasted until the next day.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—Senator George (D-Ga.) said today he fears American troops may be asked to garrison western Europe's frontiers as an outgrowth of the North Atlantic security treaty being signed today.

While George said he favors the principle of the mutual assistance pact, he does not think the United States should be asked to furnish any except surplus military supplies to European signatories in the first year of the treaty's operation.

NANKING, April 4.—(AP)—Semi-official sources said tonight Chinese Communists had agreed in principle to ordering a cease fire in China's civil war.

Details of the order were reported under negotiation in Communist held Peiping.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—A Democratic senator predicted privately today that President Truman's program for construction of 1,050,000 public housing units in seven years faces a new cut in Congress.

The Senate banking committee already has approved a bill which whittles the program to 810,000 units to be built over a six-year period.

When the bill comes up soon for Senate debate there will be a drive to trim the figure to 600,000 units for construction over six years.

To Plant Two Juniper Trees

Arbor Day will be observed Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock by the Sedalia Garden clubs when two juniper trees will be planted on the school ground of Jefferson school, with a program to be presented by the children of the school.

The two trees are a gift of Mrs. W. O. Stanley, 820 West Broadway, who at one time was a teacher in Jefferson school and who is active in garden club work. Mrs. Stanley is the president of Circle 3, of the Sedalia Garden club.

Arbor Day in Missouri is on April 5, but due to the fact that is election day, the service will be held on Wednesday. Members from all circles of the Sedalia Garden club will attend the ceremony.

Not Much Salary

NANKING, April 4.—(AP)—George Yeh today laid claim to being the world's lowest paid deputy foreign minister.

His salary last month amounted to $2.

Russians, Returning to Their Homeland, Have Little to Say

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP)—Composer Dmitri Shostakovich, carrying a bundle of phonograph records, left by plane last night for Russia with a single comment that he was "glad to be returning home."

Cartons of cigarettes were among the luggage of six other Russian delegates who started home after attending the recent "World Peace" conference here.

Newsmen got little from the departing Russians at La Guardia Field, among the fruits of a news conference were:

Alexander A. Fadeyev, secretary-general of the Union of Soviet writers and chief of the Soviet delegation to the Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace — a smile.

Piotr Pavlenko, the novelist — "America is a wonderful country, a strong country."

Sergei Gerasimov, motion picture writer, director and producer — "We have hotels in Moscow just as good as the Waldorf-Astoria — but not as tall," in answer to a question whether he would like to remain in America.

Alexander I. Oparin, biologist — "Really, we do not consider ourselves unfriendly to the American press."

Mikhail E. Chiaurely, film director — a smile.

Ivan D. Rujansky, interpreter — refusal to interpret.

None of the delegates wanted to discuss the conference, which the U. S. state department said was a sounding board for Communist propaganda.

Two Czechoslovak delegates to the "peace" conference also left for home yesterday.

One of them, Jiri Hronka, secretary general of the international Union of Journalists, said at La Guardia field: "I wouldn't live in this country even if invited."

Historic Ceremony Is Opened

Secretary Acheson
Host in Government
Auditorium Where
Pact Will be Signed

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson, opening the historic ceremony of signing the North Atlantic Treaty, today called the pact a powerful warning "for those who set their feet upon the path of aggressions."

The purpose of those who drafted it was, he said, "to set down realities for the guidance of man, whether well or ill disposed."

In his prepared speech, Acheson continued: "For those who seek peace it is a guide to refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. For those who set their feet upon the path of aggression, it is a warning that if it must needs be that offense come, then woe unto them by whom the offense cometh."

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson drew on the Bible today for the language of the warning he said the Atlantic Pact carries to aggressors.

Acheson said: "For those who set their feet upon the path of aggression, it is a warning that if it must needs be that offense come, then woe unto them by whom the offense cometh."

That is a slight variation of Chapter 18, verse seven of St. Matthew: "Woe unto the world because of offenses for it must needs be that offenses come, but woe to that man by whom the offense cometh."

Acheson acted as host at the ceremony in the government's departmental auditorium where the treaty signing was arranged before diplomats, government officials and leaders of Congress.

Nine Months Negotiation
The ceremony marked the end of nine months of negotiation which finally resulted in the treaty to bind the United States, Britain, France and nine other nations of the European-Atlantic-American region of the world into a defensive alliance on the principle of one for all and all for one.

It would not automatically pledge each country to go to war in case of an attack on another, but does bind each nation to join with other pact members in resisting the attack.

Acheson said that from the signing of the treaty — which has yet to be ratified by the 12 governments — "will flow increasing good for all peoples."

New Inspiration

"From this joining of many wills in one purpose," he said, "will come new inspiration for the future."

Carlo Sforza, Italy's white bearded foreign minister and the oldest of the top diplomats in today's ceremony, told the assemblage that "signing a pact . . . is not enough."

"Life shall have to circulate through it," Sforza said in his prepared speech, "as a result of a constant free collaboration in the service of peace between all its members, present and future."

He expressed hope the treaty would not simply be taken as a "protective umbrella," but as a basis for "continuous creation" of mutual purpose among nations and a recognition of the fact that no nation anywhere can feel secure today "if all its neighbors are not as safely marching toward the same goals of prosperity and security."

Why He Signed
Gustav Rasmussen, Denmark's slight, solemn foreign office chief, said in his prepared speech that "the signing of the treaty because 'it is an instrument of peace and because it has no other purpose than defense.'"

He declared that the "very nature" of the institutions of the western nations forming the defensive compact makes impossible for them "a calculated plan of aggression."

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—The North Atlantic treaty uniting 12 western countries whose total population amounts to 332,439,000 persons.

Russia and its six eastern European satellites, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and Albania have a population that totals 274,739,109.

Measured in manpower, the armed strength of the Atlantic treaty countries and the "Iron Curtain" bloc is estimated to be roughly the same with about five million men each. This covers the armies, navies and air forces but does not count reserves that might be called up in the event of war.

Senators Invited
WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—Most U. S. senators got only a last-minute blanket invitation today to attend the signing of the Atlantic treaty.

It took some fast footwork by Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill.) to swing that. Only two hours before the ceremony he had "straightened out" a state department "blunder" with the result that all

Thought For Today

My fond affection thou hast seen,
Then judge of my regret
To think more happy thou hadst been.
If we had never met!

And has that thought been shared by thee?
Ah, no! That smiling cheek
Proves more unchanging love for me
Than labor's words could speak.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—There has been a lot of petty bickering between the President's council of economic advisers, but there's one unpleasant fact they all agree on. They foresee definite depression in 1950 or 1951 — unless immediate steps are taken to head it off.

The council, it will be recalled, was created by Congress in 1946 to advise the White House on how to ward off depression. And although the three members differ on a lot of things, they feel that depression can be stopped — though only by the concerted cooperation of the administration, Congress, business, farmers and labor.

To understand the background of the economic council's vitally important business diagnosis, it should be recalled that for the last 100 years American economy has been riding a roller-coaster of ups and downs, inflation and deflation, of booms and busts. In the past 50 years these ups and downs have become more severe — so severe that the Politburo in Moscow is known to have based its global strategy on the theory that one more economic depression would wreck the entire American system.

History's Greatest Boom

Since V-J day most Americans have been enjoying the greatest wave of prosperity in history — for two reasons: (1) The public's unsatisfied demand for goods they could not buy during the war. (2) The cold war, which has caused the government to pour billions into the world's economic stream.

However, the council estimates that the long pent-up demand for automobiles, refrigerators and other consumers' goods is now just about filled, while the vast expenditures to Europe in another year will begin to taper off, so that depression will come in 1950-51.

Another factor is the psychological effect of swiftly rising prices followed by dropping prices. If OPA and inflation controls had not been thrown overboard by Congress and prices had not shot

ROGER THE LODGER

By Elizabeth R. Roberts

Copyright © 1949, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Roger the Lodger who lives with Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, proves more than a paying guest. It is wartime and Roger is a sergeant seeking appointment for officer training. Roger entertains high ranking officers, including a general, a major and a colonel, using up the ration points of the Roberts family. Now he is taking Major and Mrs. Drummond to Yellowstone in the Roberts car, with Mrs. Roberts going along as a passenger. So far Roger has broken the speedometer and muffler, lost a hub cap, allowed two tires to be stolen, locked the keys in the car and has just broken into the car by smashing a window.

VIII

WE arrived at Old Faithful just in time to see the geyser subside into the ground; a few abortive hiccups and nothing was left except run-off water trickling over the mineral deposits, and crowds of people walking away from the scene.

"Never mind," Roger said, "it spouts frequently. I'll ask the Ranger when it'll shoot again. We'll have time to register and go to our rooms."

"This is the berries," Major Drummond commented, finding us assigned to the third floor front facing the geyser. "Grandstand seats," he said to the bellboy.

"Yes, sir. Dining room closes at eight."

"That means we'll likely miss the next explosion," Roger said. "They happen approximately every hour, but we'll catch the one about nine."

"Floodlight tonight," Major said, "and au naturel in the morning."

Millions of people have seen it just that way, but they weren't with Roger.

We were on the balcony before dinner when Roger strutted to the rail, stuck a cigarette in his mouth, and drew a match folder from his watch pocket. He lit the cigarette and in an airy gesture tossed the match folder over the balcony railing. A wave of panic swept the look of well being from his face. He went through every pocket several times in rapid frenzy. He slapped his breast pocket. Felt carefully in his watch pocket, sneaking up on it like a man touching a sore tooth with his tongue. Ran his hands into his pants pockets. Began all over again. . .

He began to look like a frenzied chicken locked out of the roost at night and crazily running from possible loopholes to possible loopholes trying to get in.

Major said, "Here. Keep your shirt on. I've got a match."

"Match, nothing!" Roger roared. "I've lost the key to the car."

HE did a quick search of his pockets again. "It was in my watch pocket. I always carry car keys there."

"And match folders," Major said scornfully.

"They just fit," Roger explained, becoming more calm, now that he had pooled his trouble.

"And keys just fit match folders, too," Major snapped. "I've heard of fool doings before in my life, but to carry a key loose in a pocket with match folders is asking for trouble. And we've got it," he concluded grimly. Major Drummond picked up his flashlight and led us down to the shrubs below; numbed as he turned the beam into the heavy foliage. "Needle in a haystack."

Not having eyes in the backs of our heads, we missed Old Faithful as we snugged out tin foil, bottle tops, shiny leaves, bits of broken glass—all manner of small refuse from under the planting. But no key.

"If I call Rob now," I offered, "he could put my key on the midnight train to Billings, and it could catch a morning bus to the Park and perhaps reach us here by tomorrow night."

"Tomorrow night!" Major thundered in a crashing bellow. "I'm taking off for Alaska Tuesday. I'm getting out of here on the first bus." Straightening up, he continued, "And I'm eating my dinner now."

"Dinner!" Roger repeated hysterically. "How can you think of your stomach at a time like this? I'm in trouble."

"And I'm hungry," Major Drummond said.

"I can't eat," Roger said tragically. "It'd choke me."

"Something ought to," Major fired over his shoulder.

"Come on, Roger," I said. "Doing a Gandhi won't produce the key. No use starving yourself."

I left him disconsolately looking into space while I joined the Drummonds.

What Roger saw must have restored his appetite, for when we approached the dining room, he was already at the head of the line.

OLD FAITHFUL spouted, so we were told, while we were eating our steaks.

After dinner Major and Mrs. Drummond arranged space home by bus and left immediately to pack. Feeling certain my fate lay in my own hands now, I smiled sardoniously at the transport agent and murmured, "Are you married?"

He stretched his neck to settle his collar, fingered his tie into position, stroked his hair, swallowed hard, and replied, "I . . . well . . . this is—"

"I am," I explained quickly. "I just thought if you were, you'd understand better how it's my fault Roger threw the key to the car away."

The transportation agent looked hastily at Roger and then back at me.

"Oh, no. He's not my husband," I explained again. "Now, what I need is help. How are we going to get home? Roger doesn't want me to tell my husband he lost the key, and I left mine in Great Falls."

The agent finally got the drift. "Don't worry," he said. "There's a kid here who's clever at breaking into locked cars and twisting wires together and rigging up a dummy switch."

Old Faithful spouted while we hung anxiously over the transportation desk.

falling prices. And the psychological effect of falling prices encourages depression; for people, waiting for lower prices, don't buy.

The President's Advisers

The three members of the President's council of economic advisers are:

Chairman Dr. Edwin Nourse, a New Yorker, long time member of the Brookings Institute and generally considered the most conservative counselor.

Leon Keyserling, a native of South Carolina, former secretary to Senator Wagner and who has had a long experience in the government, chiefly in the U. S. Housing Authority. A liberal, Keyserling frequently disagrees with more conservative Chairman Nourse.

John D. Clark, a native of Colorado and former economics professor at the University of Nebraska and the University of Denver. Clark usually lines up with liberal Keyserling.

However, the council has composed its differences to recommend a program to President Truman which it regards as absolutely essential to block depression. While all three agree, Dr. Nourse considers the voluntary phase of the program more important, but Keyserling and Clark, though not disagreeing, would place more emphasis on the government phase. The program which Nourse considers most important is:

Farmers — Convince farmers to grow bigger crops and accept somewhat lower support prices, thereby reducing the consumers' food bill, but continuing a reasonable return for farmers.

Business — Sell businessmen on lower profits per item, thereby getting greater volume and continued reasonable profits.

Labor — Persuade labor leaders not to seek wage increases that will throw the economy out of gear.

Government Remedies

The Clark-Keyserling group, while agreeing with the above, gravely doubts the government's ability to "persuade" business, farmers and labor. Therefore, they put more emphasis on hard-and-fast government incentives which would prop up the economy regardless of persuasion.

They propose:

1. Increased social security benefits to take care of unemployed and the aged. Present old-age pensions are woefully low and unemployment benefits last only a brief interval after unemployment starts.

2. Increase minimum wages to 75 cents. This is aimed at increasing buying power in the lower brackets. At present, union labor's constant round of wage demands has put organized labor far ahead of the great mass of unskilled and unorganized labor. One sure way to prevent depression is to promote buying power by lower income groups.

3. Low-cost housing, built through government subsidies. This also helps to provide work.

4. Aid to education. This would increase teachers' salaries and provide new schoolhouse construction.

5. Stockpiling critical materials. This is not only an essential safeguard in case of war but the buying of raw materials helps to bolster a sagging economy.

Dr. Nourse agrees that this phase of the program also is essential to prevent otherwise inevitable depression in 1950 or 1951.

Merry-Go-Round

J. Quigg Newton, live-wire mayor of Denver, Colo., is lobbying to get his father-in-law, Morrison Shafroth, appointed to the U. S. Court of Appeals. The justice department isn't enthusiastic, however. For, when Shafroth was chief counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, FDR wanted him to testify before Congress regarding the yachting income tax deductions of Roy Howard. Shafroth refused. . . . Lobbyists for the big potash companies have been calling on Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico. They are fearful of increased taxes in his state. . . . Congressmen Klein and Keogh, both New Yorkers, will sparkplug a congressional investigation of illegal wire tapping. They'll try to get legislation requiring manufacturers of wire-tapping equipment to number and register every unit of their eavesdropping devices just as revolvers are numbered.

Once upon a time (and it wasn't so long ago) there were some neighbors on a telephone party line. Everything was all right, except when anyone wanted to use the line it seemed someone else was always using it.

PLEASE, MY LITTLE GIRL'S SICK

One day Mrs. White, one of the neighbors on the line, had to call a doctor in a hurry. Someone was using the line. Mrs. White hesitated, then broke right in . . .

"Please," she said, "my little girl's sick. May I have the line to call a doctor?"

"Oh, yes," said the others, and hung right up.

A short time later, Mrs. White called the person she had interrupted. "I'm sorry I had to

Someone Should do Something About Pockets, Pocketbooks

"A boy has fourteen pockets—a little girl has none" so the little nursery verse went—but times have changed—girls do have pockets sometimes now and on top of that they have pocketbooks, too. We are not quite sure which is worse—but we are sure that both are always full.

We always thought women had all the trouble. Funny thing how much a pocketbook will carry. Women sometimes get disturbed when they try to find that little piece of paper, sample of material or something or other within the accumulation of compacts, change purses, lipsticks, spectacle cases, handkerchiefs, keys and the dozen and one other things inside m'lady's bag. Sometimes she gets right down embarrassed, but she never—every woman's purse is about the same—a wild assemblage of everything. It has even become a feature of entertainment at parties. The woman who has the greatest number of articles in her purse gets an award.

Men Have Trouble Too
 Recently, however, we have started noticing men. They have almost as much trouble with pockets. They go through pants pockets, vest pockets, coat pockets—they look a little bewildered—then they draw out a billfold that looks almost as bad as a woman's purse, go through it, put it back—feel through the pockets again and just about decide they have lost whatever they are hunting for when they take one more feel through the pockets—brighten and produce the object of the hunt.

Not only that, but pockets get holes in them, too, and things slip into the lining. Recently a young woman went dashing back into her office to look in her desk drawer—then stopped short—giggled and reached for the bottom of her coat. From a hole in the lining of the coat she pulled out a green comb. The pocket and the lining both had holes. The next time she wanted the comb she looked in the hole in the lining first and there it was. How she manages to keep the comb in the lining until she gets ready to take it out through the hole is her secret.

Somebody Should Invent Something
 There is another bad thing about pockets and pocketbook—when you change pocketbooks and suits, you always have the thing you need most in the other purse or suit pocket. Somebody should do something about this great American problem. There should be a filing system of some kind invented or something. Anybody who could come up with an easy way to find things in a woman's purse or anybody's pockets would reap a fortune and not only that be a benefactor to the people of the world by saving them so much time and worry.

Traffic Cases
 Running over fire hose proved costly to two automobile drivers, this morning, when both failed to appear before Judge Harry O. Berry in police court and their cash bonds of five-dollars each were ordered forfeited.

Albert Allgaier, and C. Nevin, were arrested Sunday evening when they ran over fire hose used to fight the fire at Rosenthal's Department store.

Four overtime parking violators failed to appear in police court and their cash bonds of one-dollar each were ordered forfeited.

Rosenthal Fire Loss $250,000

from 3:25 o'clock Sunday afternoon until about 8:30 o'clock this morning. The night shift of firemen were summoned about 5:00 o'clock, when it was realized the blaze might spread to other buildings unless additional help was secured.

Approximate Losses
Malcolm Higgins, merchandising counselor for Rice-Stix Company, of St. Louis, which company recently purchased the business and stock from Joseph Rosenthal, stated the losses in fixtures, equipment and merchandise would be at least $175,000. He also said Rice-Stix carried occupational insurance to protect the employees of the organization.

Joseph Rosenthal, owner of the building, said the damages to his building would probably reach $75,000, which is partly covered by insurance.

The Rice-Stix Dry Goods Co., purchased the Rosenthal's Department Store, several months ago, and formally opened under Rice-Stix management on March 10. Prior to the official opening, remodeling and stocking of new merchandise represented an additional expenditure of approximately $80,000, this being in addition to merchandise and equipment in the store at the time it was purchased. The new arrangement gave them one of the most modern department stores in Sedalia, of two stories above the ground and a merchandising department in the basement.

Manager Out of Town

Roy Buehrle, who recently took over as manager of Rosenthal's was in Moberly, Sunday, attending a meeting on merchandising. Mr. Buehrle returned about 7:30 and was unaware of the fire until he arrived in Sedalia.

Mr. Higgins, Mrs. Mary Simon, in charge of the credit department of the store and Leo Bopp, who with his brother Walter, have the ladies shoes and part of the men's shoes concession of the store, were in the building until about 1:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon. After they had completed their work they left and locked the building. At that time they noted nothing wrong nor did they smell anything which might indicate there was a fire in the building.

Mr. Bopp in discussing his losses, said they had the ladies shoe department on the first floor and the men's shoe department upstairs. He said his losses, he believed would be $25,000, which is only covered by insurance.

Other Buildings Damaged

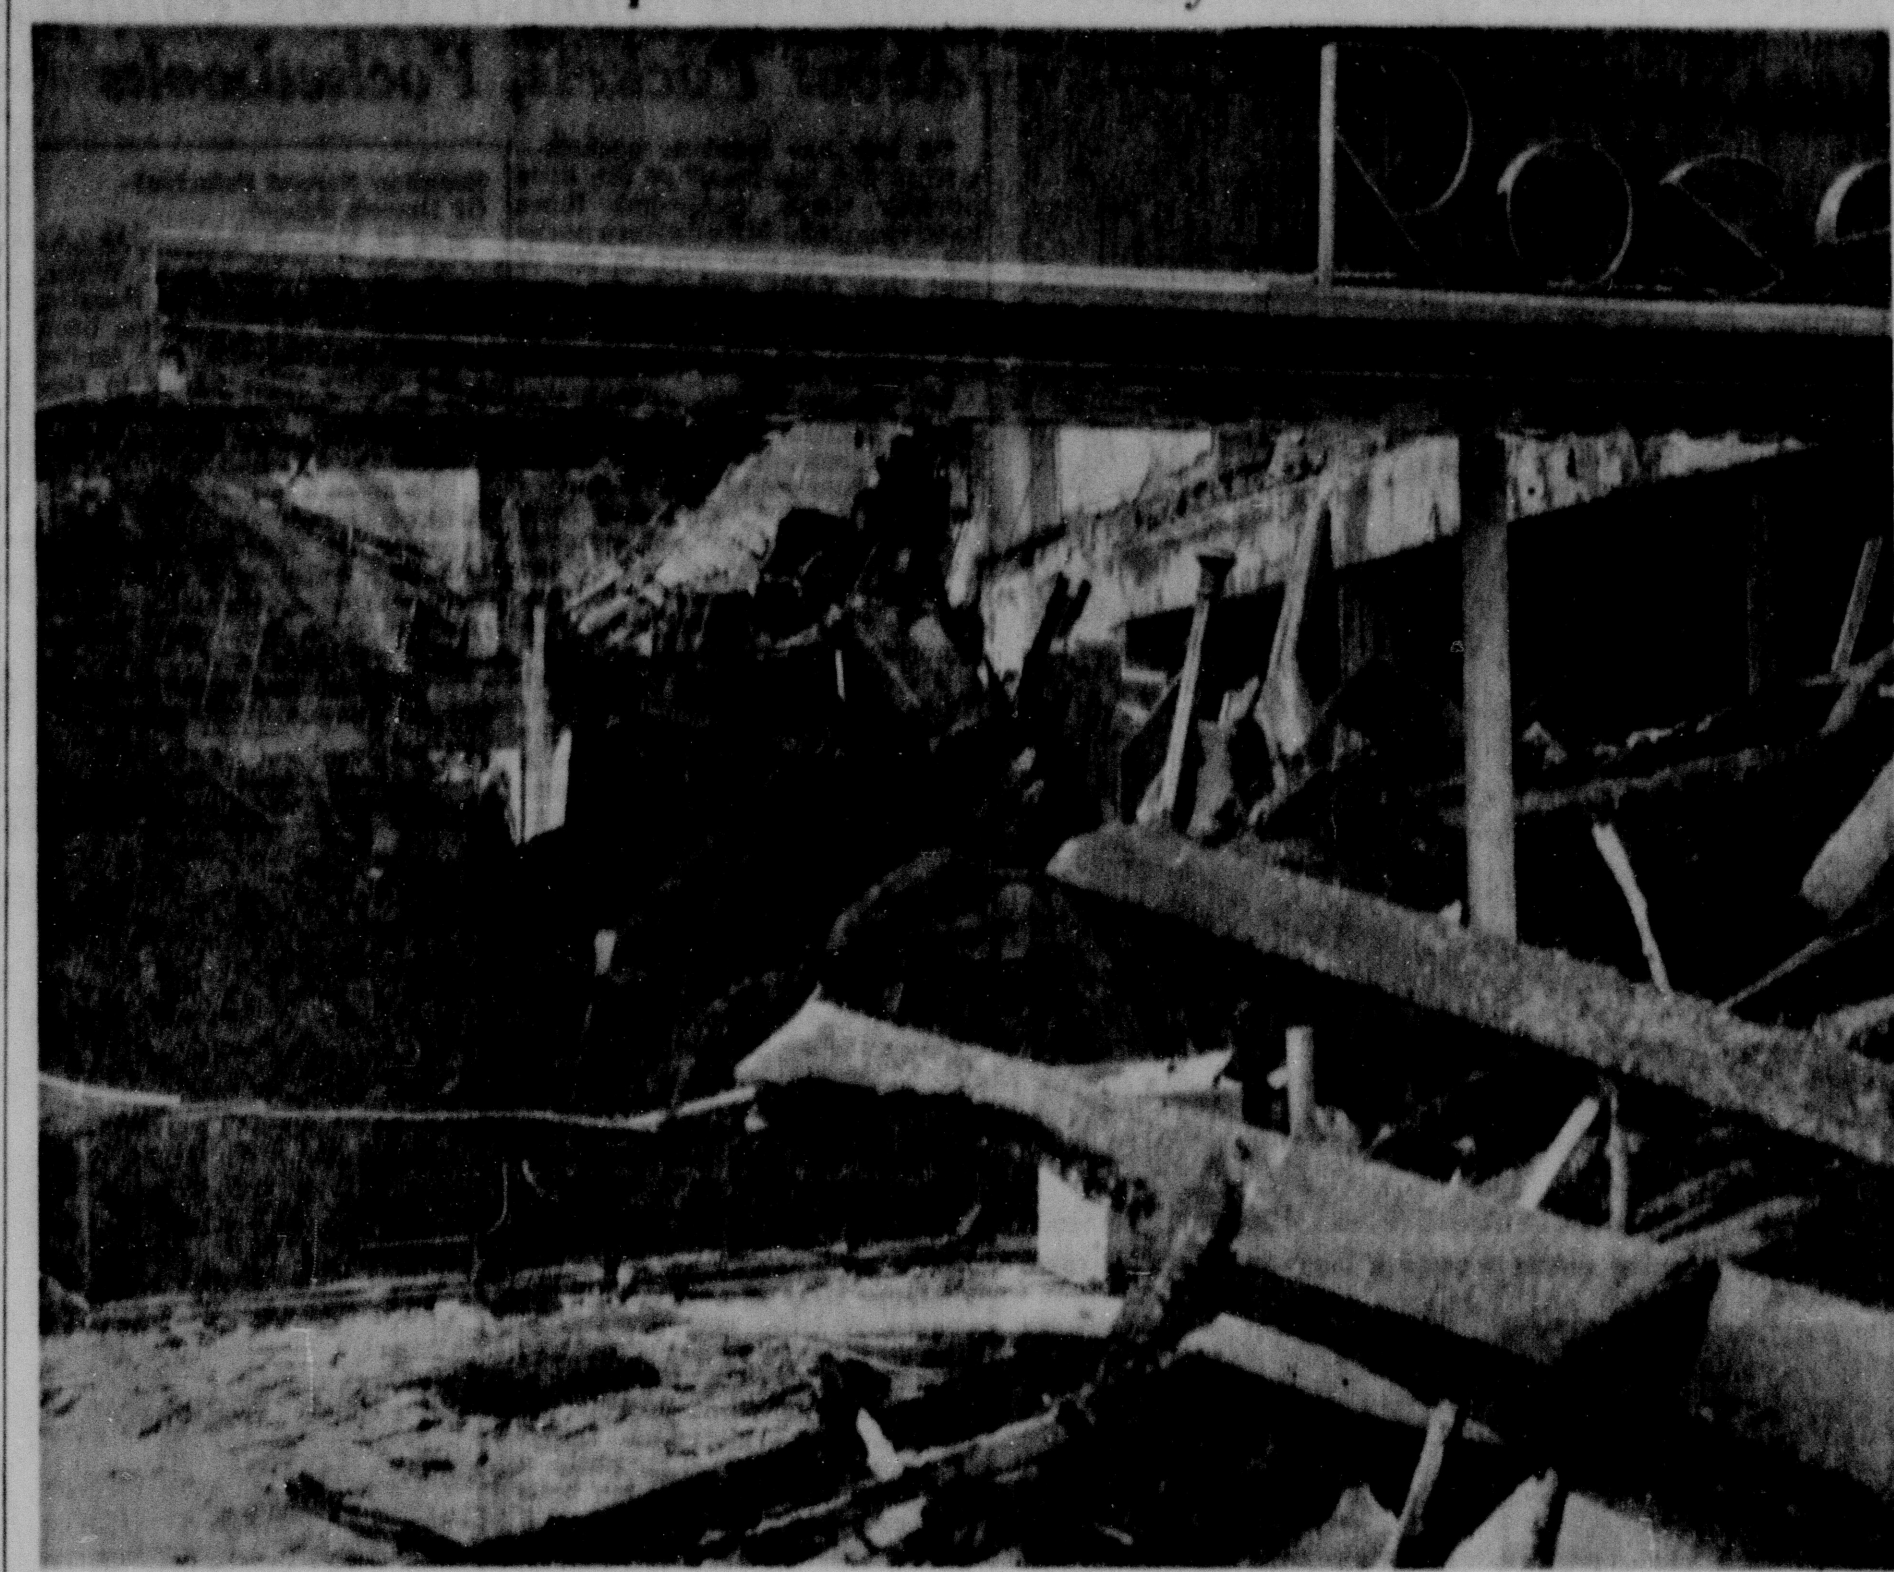

Several hundred dollars damage resulted to the Allen Chamond building, Water, which was thrown against the south wall of Rosenthal's, went through and soaked the upstairs ceiling of the building, causing plastering to fall in a front room apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Waller. Water soaked bedroom furniture of the Wallers, and rugs on the floor were considerably damaged. Smoke filled the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. George Bartholomew, causing only slight damage there.

Water which soaked through the Waller apartment also seeped through the ceiling into the Thrifty Dress Shop. The dress shop was also filled with a heavy smoke which damaged practically every garment in the store. Water also poured from the Rosenthal basement into the Thrifty Dress Shop basement and at one time it was nearly two feet deep and damaged merchandise stored in the basement.

Thrifty Shop Closed Today
The dress shop remained closed today and will be closed until insurance adjusters can check over the stock.

The Sedalia Drug Store, 122 South Ohio avenue, owned by Howard Robinson and Garnett G. Bulkeley, was damaged by smoke,

Fire Guts Rosenthal's Department Store Sunday

The interior of Rosenthal's as it appeared today after the roof, second floor and first floor of the two-story brick building had tumbled into the basement, caused by fire which started Sunday afternoon and burned into the early hours of this morning. The picture was taken from the street and through the south display window. To the left is the brick wall to the second floor which was badly damaged.

while some stock in their basement was damaged by water seeping in there. Water reached a depth of more than fifteen inches in the drug store basement.

Apartments over the drug store suffered some smoke damage.

Food Served

During the fire Adjutant A. R. Rush, of the Salvation Army, with members of his organization, were on hand passing out hot cups of coffee, doughnuts, and sandwiches to the firemen and volunteer workers. They remained on the job until early this morning.

Temporary Office

Mr. Buehrle, announced this morning, he was opening offices at the Thomasett Shoe Co., temporarily. Customers who desire to pay on their accounts may do so at the temporary office.

Noticed Nothing Beforehand

R. M. Fritz, 415 West Sixth street and Charles Weir, 1015 South Massachusetts avenue, were standing in front of the store when the fire companies arrived on the scene. Mr. Fritz reported he hadn't noticed anything wrong until the companies arrived but when they started to enter the building he saw the interior was heavy with smoke.

Gunmen Rob Tavern In New Madrid

NEW MADRID, Mo., April 4.—(AP)—Three gunmen obtained $700 some watches and billfolds in a holdup of the "611" club, a tavern three miles north of New Madrid on Highway 61 early today.

The men, ranging in age from 23 to 30, had been in the tavern some before the stickup, which came when the proprietor announced he was going to close for the night.

The victims were tied up by the robbers, one of whom had four front teeth out.

Highway patrolmen said the trio drove north in an old model automobile and then doubled back, probably going across the line into Arkansas.

Number of Marriage Licenses Down Last Month
During the month of March, there were 22 marriage licenses issued from the Pettis county recorder's office, making a total since January 1 of 66 licenses issued.

Last year the licenses issued in March totaled 29. As a rule licenses issued total more in June than any other month. Last year during June, 46 licenses were granted.

Grass Fire
The fire companies at 12:49 o'clock this afternoon were called to 1020 State Fair boulevard where dry grass in a pasture had caught fire. No damage resulted.

To Hear Talk On Boys' Work
The Optimist club will meet at noon Tuesday in the Ambassador room of the Hotel Bothwell. After the election of officers James Reed will give a short address on boys' work.

LOOKING OVER A NEWSPAPER
THE OTHER DAY
A SEDALIA WOMAN
FAILED TO SEE
A NOTICE SHE THOUGHT WAS TO BE IN THAT DAY
SHE KNEW A CERTAIN
GENTLEMAN WAS TO HAVE INSERTED IT
SO SPEAKING TO HER HUSBAND SHE SAID
"I DON'T THINK
MR. SO AND SO
IS MANAGING THIS RIGHT"
"YOU DON'T?"
REPEATED HER HUSBAND
"TILL JUST TELL HIM"
AND HE WALKED
TO THE PHONE
SHE HAD NO IDEA
HE REALLY WOULD
BUT HE DID
WHEN HE HEARD
HIM SAYING
"MY WIFE DOESN'T LIKE YOUR MANAGEMENT"
SHE COULD HAVE JUMPED OUT THE WINDOW

BUT THE HUSBAND WAS ENJOYING IT
THE WIFE
WHO REALLY DOESN'T COMPLAIN MUCH
ABOUT ANYTHING
AND DIDN'T CARE
ABOUT THE NOTICE
WHICH WAS BOOKED
FOR PUBLICATION
THE NEXT DAY

IS STILL EXPLAINING TO THE GENTLEMAN
SHE HAD NO IDEA
HER HUSBAND WAS GOING TO DO
WHAT HE DID
I THANK YOU

Those dairymen that have neither rye or 2nd year sweet clover to pasture in April are at a disadvantage in their business as they will have to continue to feed manure roughage which is more expensive. Now is a good time for such dairymen to resolve never again will they be caught short of both of these crops.

Discuss Wheat Allotments

H. Baxter Hall, acting chairman of Missouri State PMA committee, announces that meetings of county and community AAA committees were being held over the state of Missouri for the purpose of discussing instructions for obtaining information needed in establishing wheat allotments for 1950.

Mr. Hall, in discussing these meetings, said that farmers were beginning to realize more and more that in order to maintain their price support program which insures them their fair share of the national income it is necessary to have a production and marketing program which will prevent a burdensome surplus.

He further said that the primary responsibility for furnishing information rests with the farmer, and that community committees in the very near future will visit all wheat farms in the state of Missouri to obtain crop history and land use figures for the years of 1945 1946, 1947, and 1948 to be used in establishing individual wheat farm allotments.

In order that all farmers may receive their fair share of the state wheat allotment, Mr. Hall urges them to cooperate with the community committees in determining and reporting accurate crop information on their farms.

The Pettis county community committees met at the Association office on last Tuesday, March 29, to receive their instructions for obtaining this crop history and will soon be contacting farmers in their community for this information.

Reserve Corps Must be Ready For Emergency

In the event of national emergency, the organized reserve corps is charged with the responsibility of furnishing units effectively organized, trained and equipped and maintained in reserve status in time of peace for rapid mobilization and expansion. Such reserve units will, together with the regular army and National Guard units, constitute balanced forces for the army of the United States.
The organized reserve corps, composed of the officers reserve corps and enlisted reserve corps, forms the largest single component of the army of the United States and occupies an imposing position in the national military establishment.
Sergeant Baquero of the Sedalia recruiting station said today that the officers and enlisted men of the organized reserve corps are immediately available reserve capable of assuming training and command responsibilities without additional schooling. The present organized reserve corps, for the next eight or nine years, can provide the initial force behind which the remaining manpower can be organized and trained. Sergeant Baquero pointed out that there would probably be no friendly force to contain an aggressor to allow this country a chance to mobilize in an emergency. Therefore, it is vitally important to the nation's security that the organized reserve corps be able to carry out its mission in time of need. Civilian-soldiers in great numbers must be kept abreast of the ever-changing military policies, weapons and techniques. "A program has been inaugurated by the department of the army to inform the nation of the need for reservists at the present time."

Aviation Film At Lions Club

Trans World Airlines' latest motion picture, "Flight Into Time," will be shown at the luncheon program of the Lions club on Wednesday, April 6, at the Bothwell hotel. Fred Handley is the program chairman.
This travel film is one of a series of widely circulated motion pictures sponsored by TWA which are designed to suggest, or perhaps remind, people of the varied and interesting qualities of Portugal, Spain, Italy, Greece and Egypt. It offers a swift transition of time and tempo like that experienced by modern air travelers.
The showing will be conducted by Charles Renner, traffic representative from the Kansas City district office of the TWA.
